JABBERWOCKY

'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe;
All mimsy were the borogoves,
And the mome raths outgrabe.

"Beware the Jabberwock, my son!
The jaws that bite, the claws that catch!
Beware the Jubjub bird, and shun
The frumious Bandersnatch!"

He took his vorpal sword in hand:
Long time the manxome foe he sought, —
So rested he by the Tumtum tree,
And stood awhile in thought.

And as in uffish thought he stood,
The Jabberwock, with eyes of flame,
Came whiffling through the tulgey wood,
And burbled as it came!

One, two! One, two! And through and through
The vorpal blade went snicker-snack!
He left it dead, and with his head
He went galumphing back.

"And hast thou slain the Jabberwock?
Come to my arms, my beamish boy!
O frabjous day! Callooh, Callay!"
He chortled in his joy.

'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves
Did gyre and gimble in the wabe;
All mimsy were the borogoves,
And the mome raths outgrabe.

Lewis Carroll

"It seems very pretty,
but it's rather hard to understand!
Somehow it seems to fill my head with ideas —
only I don't exactly know what they are!"

But what does it mean . . .

And
Who
Are You?

RVARD

"I — I hardly know, Sir, just at present — at least I know who I was when I got up this morning, but I think I must have been changed several times since then."

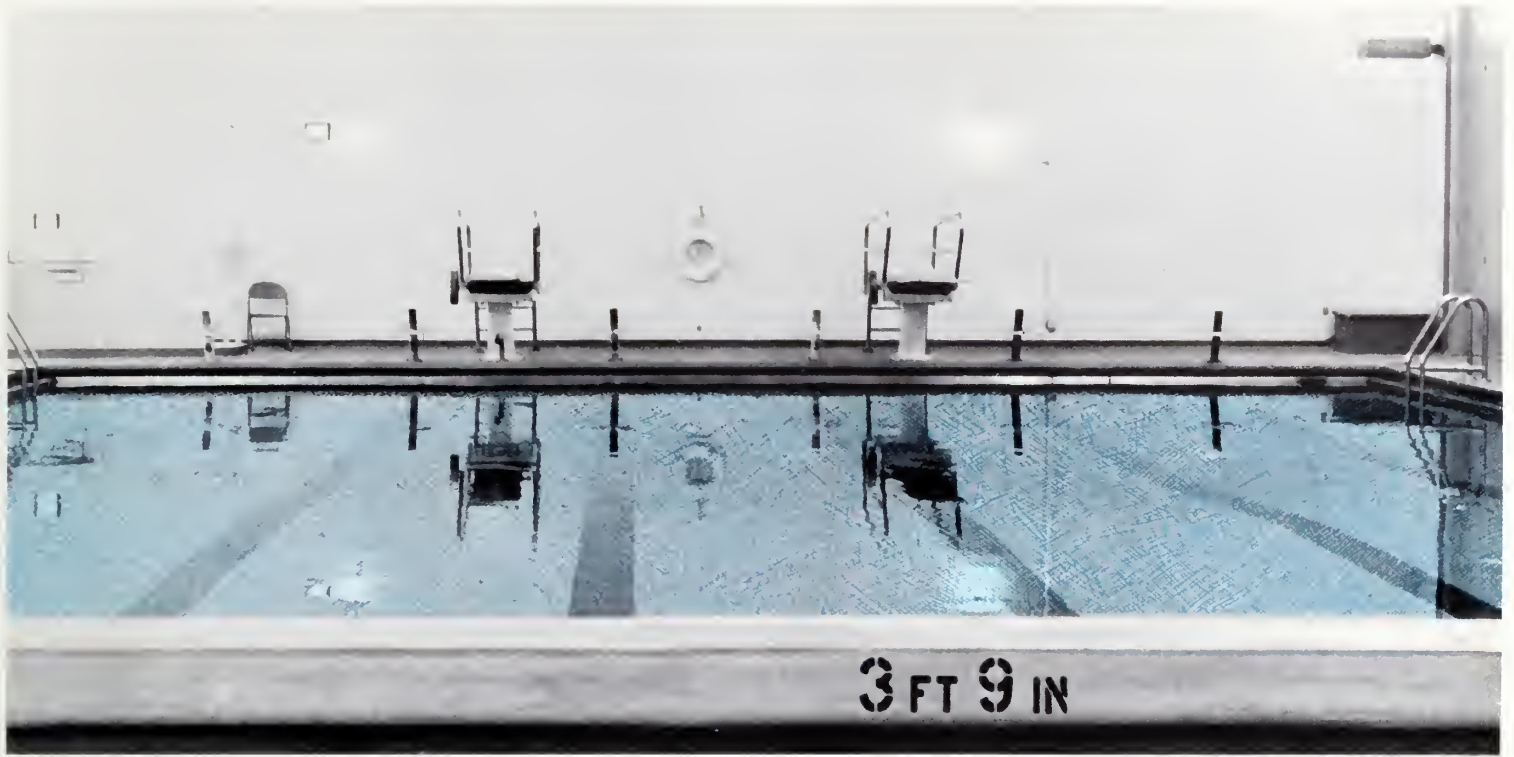

Each year at school is something different, something unique. As the days go by and as we move from one situation to the next, each of us must face and overcome obstacles. Old problems present themselves as new ones develop. Old friends disappear from view as others arrive. We grow, expand, develop, mature, and learn — each in his own way, each in his own style. Yet, in the end, one must stand alone, to seek his own way, and to realize his own goals.

Being involved in activities — classes, friendly talks, hosting children for the Christmas assembly, or enjoying the newly opened swimming pool
— each contact is one of our many impressions.

What can they all mean?

Administration

This year, Mr. Johansen taught an American history class.

Mr. O.U. Johansen, Principal

'With the publication of this issue of the Blue & Gray, another school year will soon be drawing to a close. Because the school is so large, there are few opportunities for personal contact between the principal and his students. I regret that I did not get to know you all personally and I am envious of the members of the teaching faculty who have daily opportunities to share with you the learning experiences inherent in transmitting the culture and heritage of our nation. Although the world is changing rapidly, a sense of the past can help you to gain identity and to feel that you are not cast adrift, but that you are, indeed, a part of something more permanent. I know that advice has a habit of going unheeded, but I cannot refrain from urging you to make the most of what remains of your high school experience. At this stage in your young lives, some of what you are learning may seem to be of little consequence to you, but relevance is an elusive thing and one never really knows what might be relevant tomorrow. In this day when "do you own thing" is such a popular phrase, I hope you will remember that there is still such a thing as duty and all that it implies in charting the course of a lifetime.'

—Mr. O.U. Johansen, Principal

Mr. John Youngblood, Athletic Director.

Mrs. Doris Matthews, Assistant Principal.

Mr. Howard Long, Assistant Principal.

Dr. J. Boyd Webb, Assistant Principal.

Mr. Jay Ness, Director of Guidance.

Under the direction of Becky Burdiss, the Christmas Art Shoppe was a smashing success.

Contemplating his sketch, Gary Sizemore completes his art assignment.

One of the major aims of the art department is to develop and refine the expressive powers of young artists. Students are given instruction in the art elements such as line, form, color, texture and space, so they can develop their specific creative capacities.

Program emphasis may include production and appreciation in the visual arts, music, dance, drama, or creative writing. Opportunities are provided for individual in-depth study. The introduction of semester courses last year has proved to be very successful in bringing art to more students. These courses include specialized classes in arts and crafts, sculpture, printmaking, drawing and painting. Artistic life here is indeed alive and visible.

Miss Jeanne Gilman.

Lee Wilder puts finishing touches on her latest bulletin board masterpiece.

Business

Performing a significant role in the school curriculum is the business department. The wide-range of course offerings makes it possible for students entering a liberal arts college to include some of the courses in their program, and those students desiring to enter the business world after graduation learn necessary skills. The business program is climaxed by offering seniors part time work experience in local business offices.

The school is situated in a community which offers plenty of job opportunities, both in government and private industry, to our graduates. Therefore, a student may develop a high degree of skill for a clerical, stenographic, bookkeeping, or data processing career. The program is flexible in that students may take one or many business subjects, depending on their individual needs.

Distributive Education

Students participating in Distributive Education acquire marketable job skills through regular or part-time work experience. Under the direction of the D. E. coordinators, two basic programs are offered. Students may choose to attend school four periods a day and then leave early to work on a part-time job. Others elect the "alternate-week" program in which they have the unique opportunity to hold a regular forty-hour a week job and attend school at the same time. After being placed in a job, students work and attend school on alternating weeks. Each fulfills his required courses for graduation by taking two periods of English, social studies, and distributive education, including merchandising math, on the week he is in school. Each student is also closely supervised by one of the coordinators and his employer while on the job. Most of the jobs students hold are in the retail and service fields. Upon graduation, many D. E. participants go on to major in business in college while others obtain management positions in private enterprise.

Consumer protection is an area of concern to D. E. students.

Physical Education

Mrs. Betty Eads

Basketball helps build strength and stamina.

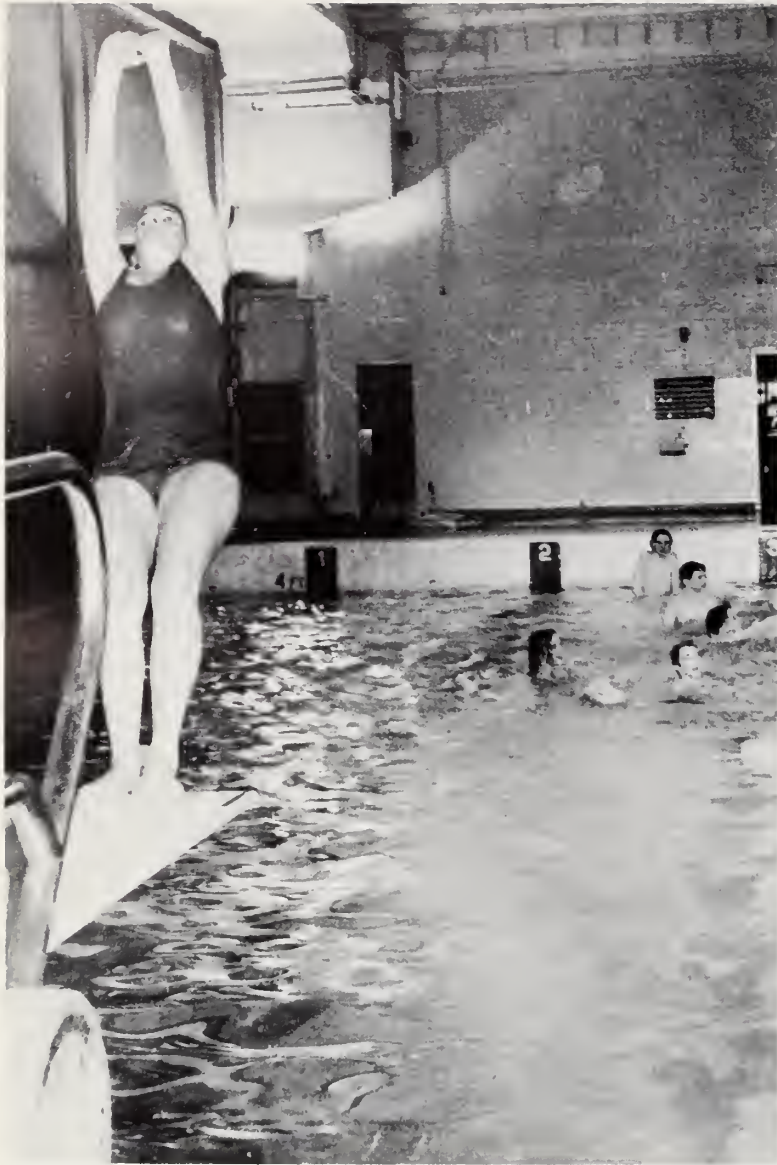

On the tenth grade level, physical education is offered in conjunction with health education. Physical education emphasizes physical fitness through the medium of vigorous individual and team sports activities. Health education stresses the positive aspects of mental and emotional health during the adolescent period.

On the junior and senior level, physical education is offered daily to those who have elected an additional course. Emphasis is placed on individual and life-time sports activities. The new highlight for class and course offerings is the aquatic center. All tenth grade and elective classes spend considerable time learning to swim or perfecting strokes and diving skills. Pool management and supervision is an elective course, co-ed, that teaches all phases of operating and managing a pool and techniques in teaching swimming to all age levels and skills.

Mrs. Dee Williams, Secretary

To interest and challenge every student, the English department continued and expanded the elective program this year. Because experience has shown that all students can benefit from reviewing composition and skills, first quarter courses involved students in these basics. Then students moved into elective courses, ranging from such literary topics as Utopia or Shakespeare to contemporary literature, to research courses, to fundamentals in reading, Business English, or composition, to folklore or communication. Each student was able to choose his courses for the year, striving to meet his interests and fulfill his needs. Reading courses involved many students throughout the year, with special use of new equipment and the reading lab. The drama department also expanded with more classes offered in techniques and skills.

As usual, basic full-year courses, advanced placement classes, American civilization, and art-English-music seminar were still popular in the department, with more students meeting more teachers and vice versa, and a greater diversity among courses. The benefits and results of the elective program are still to be seen, but students and teachers alike are already learning more about themselves and others.

Mr. Thomas F. Armstrong, Geometry, Functions, Math Analysis

Tang Tang puts zest into his functions problem.

Because of the important use of mathematics in science, economics, business, and daily life, the mathematics department is designed to meet both common and specialized needs of all. The academic student is offered a sequence of courses which enables him to develop skills and abilities in algebra; plane, solid, and coordinate geometry; trigonometry; and elementary analysis. For the non-college bound, provisions are made for the development, accuracy and facility in the use of fundamental processes necessary to his vocational needs and general education. For the mathematically gifted, the advanced placement program culminates in calculus at the twelfth grade.

The use of the computer has brought a new aspect to the math department. All levels are introduced to the use of a computer and programming. This department does its best to prepare each student for his future, be it college, a vocational job, or daily living.

Nancy Furnari confidently shows her mathematical skills to her classmates.

Home Economics

Mrs. Jonne Clemmer, Clothing, Housing, Home Ec. for Seniors

Debbie Farley cuts the beginning of a new creation.

Mrs. Beulah Anderson, Department Chairman, Foods

Mrs. Carol Jeske, Child Development

Home economics is not just cooking and sewing - it is a field that draws its content from science, art, psychology and economics, relating these disciplines to the individual and his relationship with other people.

One of the great pleasures of the foods courses is eating! Emphasis is based on food preparation in the lab. This course covers nutrition, menu planning, marketing, food management, care and use of equipment, and entertaining. The advanced course includes cultural aspects of food: regional, foreign, and gourmet, as well as careers in this field.

Although no hammer is ever raised in construction of a dwelling, balloon structure, wiring, and servicing are a part of housing courses, as well as interior design and decoration. There are also children in the department. A nursery laboratory with three and four-year olds, along with child development courses, help prepare students for a profession, parenthood, or an immediate job after school.

In clothing, each girl's construction project is based on its cost in time, energy, and money. Besides garments, panda bears, smocked pillows, ribbon belts, and crocheted bed spreads appear in class as gifts are made in December.

Culminating activity of the year is the annual fashion show and tea, at which students model the best of their handmade garments. One specialty of the department is Senior Home Economics, a short, but intense course, in which seniors prepare for a successful future.

Students in child development class take their charges for Halloween treats.

Industrial Arts

Ron Morris and Jon Thrall concentrate on an electronics project.

Mr. Allen Monk, Woodworking

Problems under the hood involve Steve DeStefano.

Mr. Benjamin French, Power Mechanics

Mr. Richard Green, Auto Mechanics.

Courses in the industrial arts department offer an alternative to traditional classroom learning. After completion of power mechanics, students may pursue intricate jobs in auto mechanics. The excellent facilities make it a popular course with both the students who take it, and with the faculty and administration who benefit by the work done on their cars. Using the tools of a professional, students in woodworking create and finish wooden furniture.

Graphics arts involve students in printing, type-setting, photo off-set, silk screen, platin presses, and rubber stamp-making. Radio and television servicing fundamentals are some of the skills taught in electronics.

Mechanical drawing and pre-engineering drafting prepare aspiring engineers and architects, with students learning techniques of designing homes, cabins and other buildings, as well as sign-making. Plans for offering short courses in different areas of industrial arts would make these techniques available to students interested in learning about car care, basic TV repair, or skillful printing. The practical application of these skills is what makes this department a very practical area of learning.

Gehane Galel develops an idea in mechanical drawing.

Mr. Bruno Paras, Department Chairman, Electronics

Mr. Paul Harding, Mechanical Drawing, Engineering

Patience is required in graphic arts, discovers Scott Stanton.

Language

Mr. Samuel Mallia, Russian, French

Mrs. Mary Ellen West, Latin, Spanish

Mr. Michael Gorman, Spanish

Mrs. Phyllis Gromet, French

Of all departments, perhaps it is most difficult to realize the utility of foreign language, notably German, French, Latin, Russian and Spanish. For most students, the need for college credit is the largest factor; very few take language for enjoyment, and even fewer foresee the use of their knowledge for the future. Therefore, the newest emphasis is the study of the cultures of people whose languages students learn. Developing skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing in a foreign language receives most attention as in recent years, but there is new stress on geography, history, and culture.

English as a second language has become more important, with more students of foreign background attending W-L. These students have no difficulty seeing the usefulness of their new language, as they put it to immediate use. Faculty are able to teach more levels of their language than before since more students are working independently. In this way, a longer sequence of study is possible in each language.

Mr. Fred Pfeiffer, Band; Dr. Robert Baxter, Department Chairman, Chorus, Choir.

Music

Mr. Harvey Krasney, Orchestra.

The alto section 'oohh!' their way through choir.

Dr. Baxter helps chorus members with a new piece of music.

The sounds of music may be heard from the early hour of 7:00 a.m. to the final hours of the school day, from the music wing.

Within the department students are involved in Madrigal Singers, Choir, Chorus, Band, and Orchestra.

Chorus introduces students to "light" popular music, working on tone quality, beginning theory, and over-all basics. Responsibility increases in choir, as students study a wider range of music, with hopes for a superior rating in the spring. As seniors, Madrigal Singers devote many hours to all types of music, with stress on performing as a small group.

On the instrumental side, orchestra and band involve many students in studying both classical and contemporary music. Musicians appear throughout the year in concerts, and also participate in smaller bands and quartets.

Through this department, many students gain knowledge and experience in the vast field of music to share with others.

John Hayes concentrates on Beethoven.

Social Studies

Mrs. Peggy Jeens

Mr. Maurice Levin

Mrs. Cora May Seeley

Mr. Stan Book, Chairman

For the second year, the social studies department is continuing the elective program. This way, most juniors and seniors are able to plan half their school year based on electives of special interest to them. Courses range from independent study to in-depth studies of particular problems or eras.

In planning for the renovated W-L, members of the department have submitted a plan for their area that would allow for a variety of teaching and learning experiences — from the open-school concept to the traditional classroom technique. Since this was a presidential election year, many students were involved in political activities. Straw votes were taken and a mock election was held; as before, senior government students participated in a mock Congress. The Social Studies Honor Society was reactivated after several years, with students planning the mock election, studying Virginia and national politics, and sponsoring speakers. Through this department, students have been able to gain a perspective on history, along with more knowledge of current times.

Guidance

Mrs. Marie Peckham, Counselor.

Mr. Donald Lewis, Counselor.

Mrs. Margaret Huddleston, Counselor.

Service is the key word for the guidance department, whose counselors seek to help both students and faculty in several ways. Counselors provide ideas and recommendations for college-bound students, giving them aid with registrations and tests. To help job-seekers, they publicize information and contact prospective employers. This year, too, the department has brought in many career specialists to discuss future vocations with interested students. Counselors help faculty and administrators with up-to-date records, ideas on class sizes, coordination with homebound students, and understanding of student's problems.

Above all, guidance counselors are there to listen . . . to help with teacher conflicts, friend conflicts, or just personal tensions. Their offices are perhaps one place where discipline is not a prevailing element. Rather, students can talk out ideas, hopes, failures, and experiences. Through the guidance department, hopefully, everyone here can grow toward better self-understanding and realization of potential.

Library

With the new library in its third year, more and more resources are available to make the library a better place for learning. The library aims to provide for the interests and abilities of all students, which means carrying easy books as well as scholarly ones on major subjects. It also means providing a variety of media such as films, records, tapes, pictures, and all types of printed materials. It means videotaping educational TV items, promoting classroom loans, maintaining a bring-one-take-one paperback collection, displaying materials, publishing lists of new materials, and trying to keep the library an attractive place for study. Student assistants learn library routines and perform many extra services for their classmates.

Mrs. Elva Aukland, Department Chairman, Biology

Science courses attempt to meet the needs of all students as seen in the multi-level science courses taught in the department. Science classrooms focus on laboratory activities, with a wealth of supplies and equipment. The biology classes are famous for their frog and chick labs which enable students to observe functions as well as structures and observe first hand the intricacies of birth and life. Chemistry labs reveal the predicability and precision of chemical reactions, but best of all, the challenge of determining unknowns at the end of the year. One of the memorable moments of Physics is the ripple tank through whose use students discover the interference of light and its wave-like properties. Occasional team teaching in science classes means that all classes have the advantage of hearing from teachers with unique specialties and all benefit from the experience.

The Science Department also urges students to be a part of the very active club program including the research oriented Science Honor Society, the enthusiastic Science Club and the activist Ecology Club.

Turnovers were the cause of W-L's poor showing this year. Although the Generals had a strong defense, the offense let scoring opportunities slip through their fingers by giving the ball up an average of five times a game. In seven of their eight losses, W-L outgained their opponent in total offense but they could not score when they needed it most.

Halfback John Cornwell gains good yardage despite rain and mud.

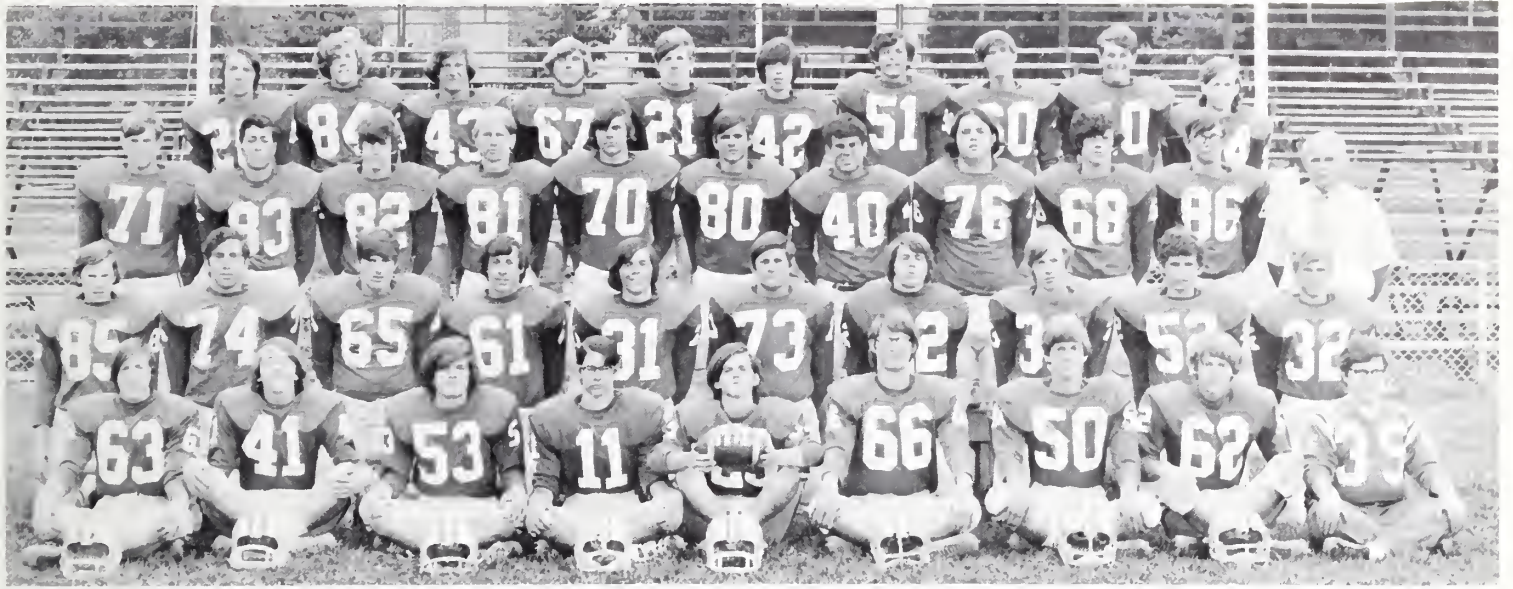

Mark Crandell and Bill Weisenberger give a Marshall opponent a taste of W-L defense.

Season Record — 2 wins, 8 losses: Ft. Hunt 7-33, Mt. Vernon 6-7, Langley 0-9, McLean 14-7, Oakton 14-20, Wakefield 0-7, Madison 7-0, Marshall 0-17, Yorktown 7-17.

Varsity Soccer once again proved to be a strong sport for W-L this year. Although the team finished second in the district with a 8-4-1 record, they came on strong in the Regional Tournament. After opening victories over O'Connell and George Mason, they defeated Yorktown, 2-1 on Kevin Scannell's goal in the second overtime for the regional championship.

Mike Boryan overtakes his Madison opponent.

George Davis, in his first year as head coach, directed the cross country team to an undefeated record in the dual meet season. Senior Mark Orndorff broke four records on his way to the individual championship in the Great Falls District and he combined with Paul Short and Mike Boryan to give the Generals a third place finish in the district and seventh in the region.

W-L's version of Dave Wottle, Steve Pope, finishes strong against O'Connell.

The 1972-73 season proved to be a very successful one for the Generals as they finished with a 14-7 record and second place in the Great Falls District. The Generals' attack relied heavily on four returning starters from last year's team: Jeff Dance, Jim Barbe, Skip "Mad Dog" Mann, and Frank Evans, and featured a fast breaking offense that set a school scoring record of 100 points against O'Connell in the first game of the year. The team also played tough defensively, but a late season slump ending in an unexpected loss to McLean in the district tournament ended hopes of winning the Northern Regional Championship.

The Dog adds to his 18-point average against Marshall.

Bruce Fleegal tries to find an open man.

Season Record: O'Connell 100-63, 78-58; Wakefield 66-62; T.C. Williams 61-56; Edison 66-68; Stuart 70-86; Madison 68-58, 49-48; Marshall 67-55, 53-55; Yorktown 68-52, 73-60; Langley 65-63, 69-58; Herndon 59-58, 64-65; McLean 81-71, 95-52, 53-60; Oakton 56-67, 60-67.

Alan Posey takes down his opponent.

The varsity wrestling team finished the season with a 7-5 record and a third place in the Great Falls District. Super sophomore James Frith went undefeated and won the district championship and Doug Kihm, Alan Posey and Chuck Mason placed second. They only made it as far as the second round in regional competition, but wrestled well in the dual meet season.

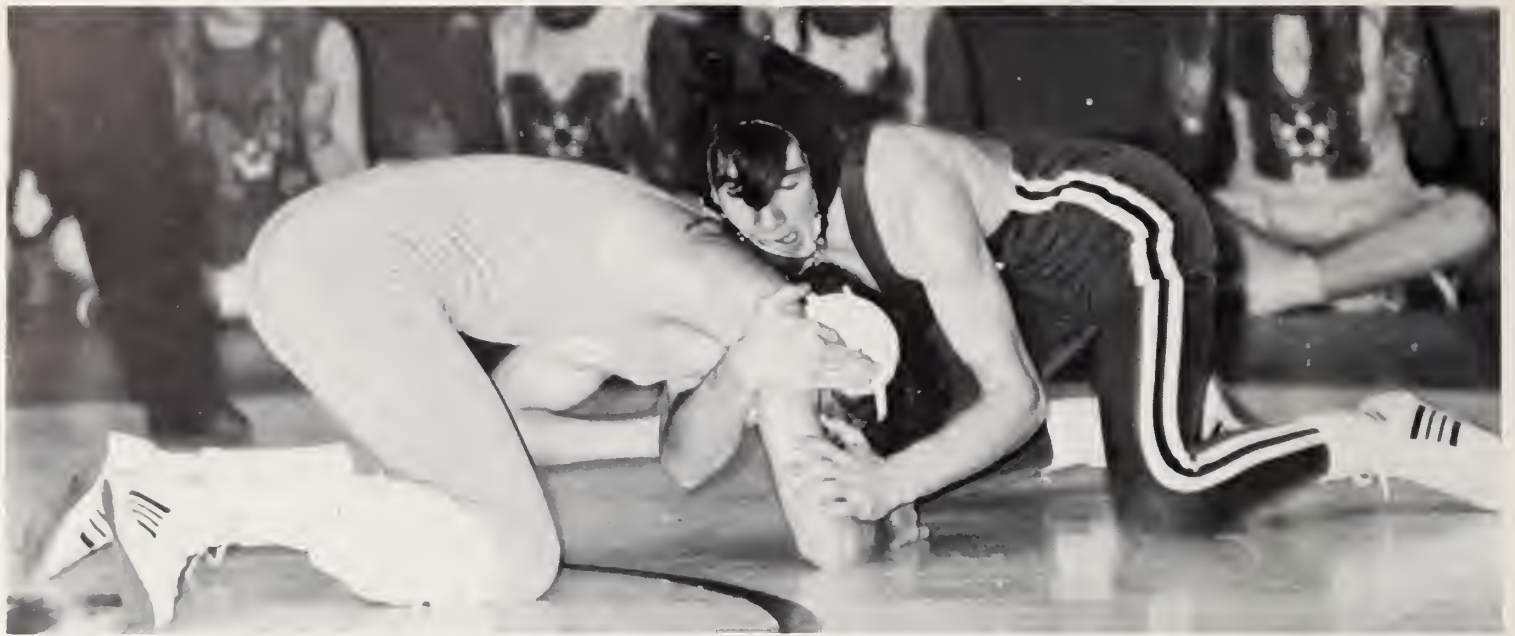

Sophomore Joe Braner escapes from his man.

Another first in sports at W-L was the varsity swimming and diving team. Under the iron fist of Coach Barbara Bacon, the team finished with an impressive 5-2 record. Although the team showed great balance, several individuals turned in key performances. David Funk placed first in every meet in the 100 meter backstroke, and senior Del Flint took first in all but one diving meet. The girls' and boys' medley relay was also a strong event throughout the season.

Deenie Vandersluis takes the lead in the 50 m. butterfly.

Richard Schmitt plans his strategy for the 100 m. freestyle.

Season Record: Mt. Vernon 129-48, Lee (forfeit to W-L), Hayfield 131-45, Edison 108-73, Ft. Hunt 66-115, W-L-Yorktown-Wakefield 121-151-47.

Mindy Salata strikes a pose in her Free Ex routine.

As a varsity sport, the girls' gymnastics team gained the rare privilege of being able to use the gym floor, even during basketball season. Confined to the side lines and dodging stray basketballs must have helped to increase concentration, because Free Ex was the strongest event for the team, placing three girls in regional berths in the advanced category. All girls competing in optional events qualified for the regional meet. Under the critical eyes and whips of Coaches "Brutus" Reinwald and Dave Faulconer, the "Zoo" showed amazing progress, considering . . . ask Mr. Levin.

Terri Jones performs a forward roll in her compulsory beam routine.

A back straddle catch is perfected by Mary Losa.

Gymnastics, by definition, is mind over matter. In other words, you have to convince your body to do things your mind keeps telling you are impossible, like letting go of the bar and leaving that nice, soft mat far below. That puts gymnasts in the category of the slightly deranged. But ask any gymnast, and for some odd reason, they'll tell you they love it. It takes great dedication and concentration, and can produce the greatest feeling of accomplishment. Definitely not for those with logical, stable minds.

Four teams in this year's Great Falls District competed in the Regional Tournament last year, so that the Generals faced a tough season. All twenty games were district games and provided quite a challenge to W-L, who was Northern Regional Champion and runnerup in the state in '72. Four regulars returning were pitchers Jim Barbe, Carl Zerambo, Shannon Snyder and outfielder Lester Mitchell. Competition for other positions was very stiff and all positions were capably filled.

Tom Jeschke and John Hottle run the 440 during an afternoon workout.

The varsity track team, led by senior co-captains Mike Boryan and John Cornwell, is looking forward to a successful season. Under first year coach George Davis, the team should be especially strong in the longer distances. Coach Davis has four returning three year lettermen: Boryan, Cornwell, Mark Orndorff and Paul Short. Cornwell's strengths are the 440 and 880.

Orndorff is the defending district champion in the mile and Short finished third in the 2-mile. If the Generals can get strong performances from their sprinters and do well in field events, they could be W-L's best team in years.

Dave Linder overtakes John McNabb on the turn.

The Steps

After three years of disappointment at the Stotesbury Regatta and the National Championships, this year could be one of the most successful in W-L history. There are over 40 returning seniors, including 31 lettermen, all trying for positions on the first eight. The competition for these positions is stiff, but this competition should help produce a good boat.

Every day after school, over 70 W-L oarsmen gather at the boathouse for their workout, which consists of running two miles, running ten sets of steps, pull-ups, sit-ups, then rowing on the river for five or six miles. The work pays off when the season begins with the trips to the Naval Academy, Middletown, Delaware, Kent, Connecticut, and Philadelphia.

Student -Faculty Senate

Government as W-L saw a great change this year with the activation of the Senate-a new advisory body made up of 13 representatives of the students, faculty, and administration. Relationships had to be firmied before the group could work together as equals. Then, everyone made a great effort to produce effective ideas and actions. The first accomplishment was the improvement of cafeteria service by providing alternatives to the pre-packaged lunch. Serious discussion of instituting off-campus privileges was begun in December; this remained the subject of greatest concern before the body.

The evaluation of this Senate remains to be seen, but it was a big step towards mutual cooperation and involvement of all the members of the school community.

Blue & Gray

Although yearbook is not labeled as a varsity sport, anyone who has served his time in Room 324 knows it should be. Attempting to capture a given year in words and pictures is a difficult job, but fitting the words and pictures together in a unique way requires creativity, hard work, and a great deal of time.

Procrastination was the key word for the '73 BLUE & GRAY staff as "senior slump" infected every member (senior or otherwise). But somehow we survived through all the birthdays, the PENMAN staff, the midnight sessions rushing feverishly to meet a deadline, and the occasional visits from the Bandersnatch, Captain Countdown, and even the Jabberwock himself. By the time the last deadline rolled around, our office had come to be known as "Barbara's Madhouse."

Penman

Penman is the only high school literary-art magazine in the country that is published three times a year. For the past four years, the magazine has been given a Medalist rating by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and has been a trophy winner in state competition for the last nine years. This year's staff worked hard to maintain these standards, while they also compiled the school directory, and business managers did their part selling popcorn.

Crossed Sabres

In gathering the news, covering sports events and announcing class and club activities, the newspaper attempted to interest every member of the school population. Editorials were written to be both informative and entertaining.

Eight members shared the tasks of interviewing, writing, typing, constructing layouts, composing headlines, and distributing the paper. For them, it was a useful, rewarding, and sometimes tedious experience.

To try new ways to brighten the newspaper, the staff began a "Going Places" column, appearing frequently with news about movies, plays, concerts, and other area events. Also, the staff found many different cartoonists to present a variety of style and animations.

In putting out the school paper, the staff learned a lot about the varied aspects of gathering and writing the news as well as all the techniques involved.

Learning and sharing were the key words for the Distributive Education Club, as they combined classroom work with practical experience. With the money the members made from their knowledge of business and selling, they held their annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. The D.E. district contests saw many winners from W-L, which gave them an exciting weekend in Philadelphia. The climax of the year, in the spring, was the Employees Banquet for all the members and their employers.

Nineteen talented and dedicated seniors made up the '73 Madrigal Singers. During the daily "before school" rehearsals, they learned a diverse repertoire which included sixteenth century madrigals, liturgical music, French carols, contemporary pieces, and popular arrangements. They performed for every age group, and highlighted their Christmas season with a "performance by invitation" at the White House. Each of the singers feels that this year's experience has added much to the enjoyment and fulfillment of his senior year.

Concert Band

This year marked the end of the Pfeiffer era, as the band attempted to make Mr. Fred Pfeiffer's last year here a memorable and enjoyable one.

The area festival concert was a highlight, involving the combination of the three local high school bands. Under skilled leadership, the band also performed in the successful fall and spring concerts. The band enjoyed attempting to learn many different variations of music and tried to play that music to the best of their ability.

Members also performed in Christmas and Spring concerts, as well as at several assemblies and at the junior high schools. Some students worked in smaller groups, with all orchestra members gaining musical interest and knowledge.

Debate Team

Debating a given resolution always requires a great deal of work in research and in briefing-out arguments, but this year, the debate team found themselves faced with a particularly difficult and complex topic: Resolved that governmental financial support for all public elementary and secondary education in the United States should be provided exclusively by the federal government.

Varsity members spent three weeks last summer at the Georgetown University Debate workshop, studying background material on the resolution and developing affirmative cases. When school began, novices joined the varsity debaters in the long process of refining and researching special cases and areas. In November, a heavy schedule of tournaments began, culminating in the Great Falls district tournaments in March and the final Washington Forensic League contest in early April.

Art Club

Textile paintings, drawing sessions, and studies in the fine arts were the major art club activities. Famous eras and their artists were also discussed, and splatter sheet painting was the new experience of year.

The annual Christmas Shoppe saw new items such as string designs, posters, and miniature flowers which boosted the always successful store. Creativity was the key word for W-L's aesthetically active club.

Dan Reed holds an electrifying French Club meeting.

Angie Terry remains thoughtful during a heated discussion.

French-related activities in the Washington area helped French Club members improve their knowledge of the French culture and language this year. Movies were a common item on the agenda along with several fund raising francoise bake sales. The annual French Club dinner closed the year with a flourish.

Communications Corps

Seven members of the Communication Corps comprised the largest group of announcers to be heard in recent years, with four expounding on the local happenings twice a week, and three standby members gaining experience on the Wednesday afternoon announcements. Music in the morning was a familiar sound in most homerooms, as the WLHS programs continued to alleviate student boredom before school. From the first week of the year, this group brought relevant news, lengthy sports commentaries, and bad puns, as the announcers gained valuable experience.

In the hopes of developing a better understanding of Black culture, the Afro-American club was formed this year. Through the expansion of Black identity at W-L, the members hope to promote and maintain a more harmonious and unified atmosphere among all factions in the school.

Bible Club

Relevancy was the Bible club's major purpose in gathering for discussions. By studying certain biblical themes, the members tried to make the scriptures applicable to daily life. In this way, both individuals and the group grew significantly.

International Relations Club

First row: Lenore Gates (Secretary), Theresa Kang, G. With its goal being to break down the barriers between different nationalities and promote greater understanding, the International Club sponsored a regular bi-weekly program in "International Student Awareness." Each program concentrated on the students'-eye-view of his country, its music, customs, history, religion, cuisine and holidays. Club members profited from realization that differences between nationalities were superficial, and that similarities were most important. During April, the club sponsored "International Night," featuring an international buffet and student entertainment.

Science Club

Monthly meetings were just a small element of the busy science club schedule throughout the year. The club also made an overnight trip to the outdoor laboratory, sponsored the spring science fair, and hosted a banquet to honor those winning awards during the year.

To president John Hayes, this must be a long meeting.

Catherine Leslie takes notes.

Douglas, Nicholas M. Paraskevas.

Learning about the history, culture and people of Spain was the emphasis for the Spanish Club, as they dined at a Mexican restaurant, had discussions on Hispanic topics, and heard guest speakers. They learned about the games and music of Spain, and enjoyed seeing the film, "Man of La Mancha." Members brought a new idea to bake sales, with Spanish food, and also led a school-wide drive to aid earthquake victims in Nicaragua.

First row: Steve Pociask, Lance Tennyson, Atilla Canturk, Alex Brown (Treasurer).
Second row: Jung Tsai, Tang Tang (President), Anita Rowland, Thomas H. White.
Third row: David Cook, Bruce Bland, Lenora Gates, Murad Mularak, Margaret Thomas.

Wide interest in chess led to the formation of a chess club last fall, with several members playing after school and participating in tournaments with area schools. The club was international in nature, with the president from Hong Kong, and others players from Taiwan, Turkey, and New Zealand.

A student seriously ponders his strategy.

"Checkmate" is in David Cook's mind as a game against Stefan gets under way.

Health Club

Drill Team

Beginning with long, hot practices on summer days, the Drill Team learned several routines to bring entertainment to football fans during halftimes. Performing at basketball games was a new experience for the group, giving them a chance to continue improving their skills. This, and much more made the season a memorable one.

The girls march at a home game, inspired by the drum cadence.

Hiking Club

Hikes and camp-outs became important sojourns in the lives of 25 students who formed the Hiking Club last fall. At least 10 members joined in every excursion, which included outings to Old Rag, White Oak Canyon in Shenandoah National Park, and the Billy Goat Trail near Great Falls, Maryland.

Robin Burgbacher tells club members about a new location for weekend riding.

Phyllis Sattler and other club members focus their attention on the guest speaker.

Promoting better horsemanship is the sole purpose of the Mounted Generals. No riding experience is required, but the club hopes to develop students' riding abilities. When not riding, the Mounted Generals have discussions on the proper care, maintenance, and understanding of horses, to create a special enthusiasm for horses and riding.

Pep Club

From the confines of the girls' health room, many spirit-raising ideas have come to this year's Pep Club. Usual activities, such as decorating lockers, filled their time, but for a first, they sold cowbells at football games.

They also took over the job of selling football programs, along with pom-poms. And their bleary eyes on a few mornings were due to rising early to decorate athletes' houses before big games, as members did their best to raise spirit throughout the year.

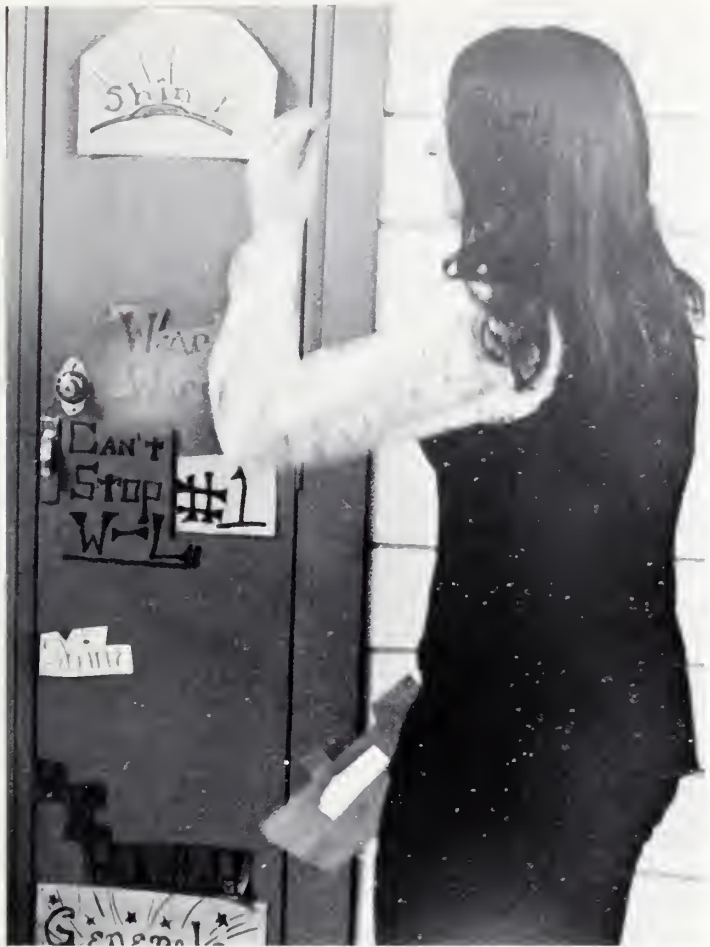

Selecting athlete's houses to decorate is a hard decision for Jackie Bottash and Melinda Peed.

Wendy Brown and Susan Williams explain the group's next fund raising project.

DeeDee Walker doesn't find skiing the easiest thing in the world.

Because of the lack of precipitation, thinking snow was the major activity of the Ski Club this winter. In December the members had to settle for ice skating at the Marriott, while in January the snow finally came to the ski resort in Roundtop, Pennsylvania. The most thrilling part of the year was the three-day trip to Seven Springs in February. Although the beginners outnumbered the experts in the club, the better skiers had a chance to race against the Yorktown Ski Club. No major injuries occurred, and all the members thoroughly enjoyed the white slopes.

Chris Peshcock and Bruce Bland day-dream about a weekend on the slopes.

Crew Boosters

Dedicated to a hard-working group of young men, crew boosters work not for themselves, but for the purpose of inspiring the team. Yearly activities include decorating lockers and buses for the team's trips, and sponsoring boathouse dances. Some are even faithful enough to go down to the glorious but dirty boathouse to sand oars and sweep floors, all in the spirit of helping the crew to victory.

Darlene Calandra and Karen Walker help get the crew season under way by trying their hand at sanding oars.

Mary Jane Schad explains to new members what "crew raisins" are.

Involvement was the key word for the active Ecology Club. Through projects such as Earth Week, Campaign Clean Water, and ecology bulletin board, and work at the re-cycling center, members helped make people aware of environmental problems. Continued campaigning and petitioning against I-66 helped keep the super-highway away from Arlington, and a trip to the state capital kept members up to date on current environmental legislation.

Steve Rockwell and Barbara Kfoury reflect on an I-66 discussion.

Beta Service Club

Many organizations received support from Beta service club throughout the year. These included the March of Dimes, UNICEF, epilepsy and leukemia foundations, and Missionhurst. One highpoint was the annual Homecoming Dance in November, which Beta co-sponsored with Tau. They also ushered at school events and baked for hungry students, and finally planned for fun at Ocean City.

President Mary Corbin introduces a new activity to fellow members.

"Delta is ready when you are" set the tone for active members who aimed to contribute to both school and community. This service club collected for the March of Dimes, supplied Christmas candy to teachers, took favors to hospitalized children at Easter, "rejuvenated" the Quincy Street flower boxes, sponsored several bake sales, and served refreshments for Back-to-School night.

President Melinda describes an event in detail to Kristie.

Denise, Kristie, and Melinda share their thoughts.

Kappa Service Club

Continuing tradition, Kappa service club offered aid to both school and community. Their bake sales fed the after-school "hungries," and their Christmas gifts brought joy to children at Arlington Hospital. The girls also ushered at plays, collected for the March of Dimes, visited senior citizens, while they enjoyed friendship and fun.

Treasurer Gail Hirshberg finds a comment quite witty.

While making her point clear to members Leslie Butterfield and Charisse Bartlett, Nancy Nash makes notes.

Keyettes Service Club

From the first days of school, Keyettes fulfilled their responsibilities, serving as orientation guides for sophomores and serving refreshments to teachers. At Christmas, they brought Santa, his elves, and lots of goodies to the children at the Arlington Welfare Department.

They Keyettes participated in the March of Dimes collection, visited patients at Walter Reed Army Hospital, and senior citizens. They also had time for fun, especially with an end-of-year swim party.

Sigma Service Club

Twenty-five girls enjoyed serving both school and community in Sigma service club. Selling mints for the YMCA, they earned the trophy for highest sales. They also sponsored the Potlatch Dance, and broke Tuesday monotony with bake sales. As usual, they collected for March of Dimes and UNICEF, and will relax in the Ocean City sunshine in June.

Debbie Honnold is optimistic about the drive.

Tau Service Club

Projects for W-L, its students and teachers set the theme for Tau Service Club, as they wrote welcome letters to new teachers, aided sophomores, wrapped Christmas presents for the cafeteria ladies, served a breakfast to the Madrigal Singers, and joined in sponsoring the Homecoming Dance. To help Arlington, they sold mints for the YMCA, sang carols at the Fort Buffalo nursing home, and collected for the March of Dimes. The girls also sponsored a needy child in Brazil. With twice-monthly meetings and bake sales, they also had time for fun.

Holly Thompson is involved in sending messages to fellow members.

National Beta

For National Beta, the year began with a mixer and a "get-acquainted" cook-out for new members. At Homecoming, members served lunch to varsity football players, managers, and coaches. They baked cakes for teachers at Thanksgiving, decorated the cafeteria for Christmas, and gave candy canes to teachers. Collecting for ALSAC, selling YMCA mints, and collecting for March of Dimes were important projects. One highlight of the year was sponsoring the annual spring Charity Ball and selection of Miss W-L; and this club initiated a new idea this year — an Easter egg hunt for the whole community.

“Why,” said the Dodo, “the best way to explain it is to do it.”

Tragedy at the Olympics . . . Nixon Re-elected . . . Youth Vote . . . Truman Dies . . . Last Apollo Flight . . . Redskins go to the Superbowl
. . . Johnson Dies . . . Vietnam Peace Signed . . . P.O.W.'S Return Home . . . Indians take over at Wounded Knee . . . Watergate Trial . . .
Dollar Devalued . . . Jonathan Livingston Seagull makes records on the Bestseller List . . .

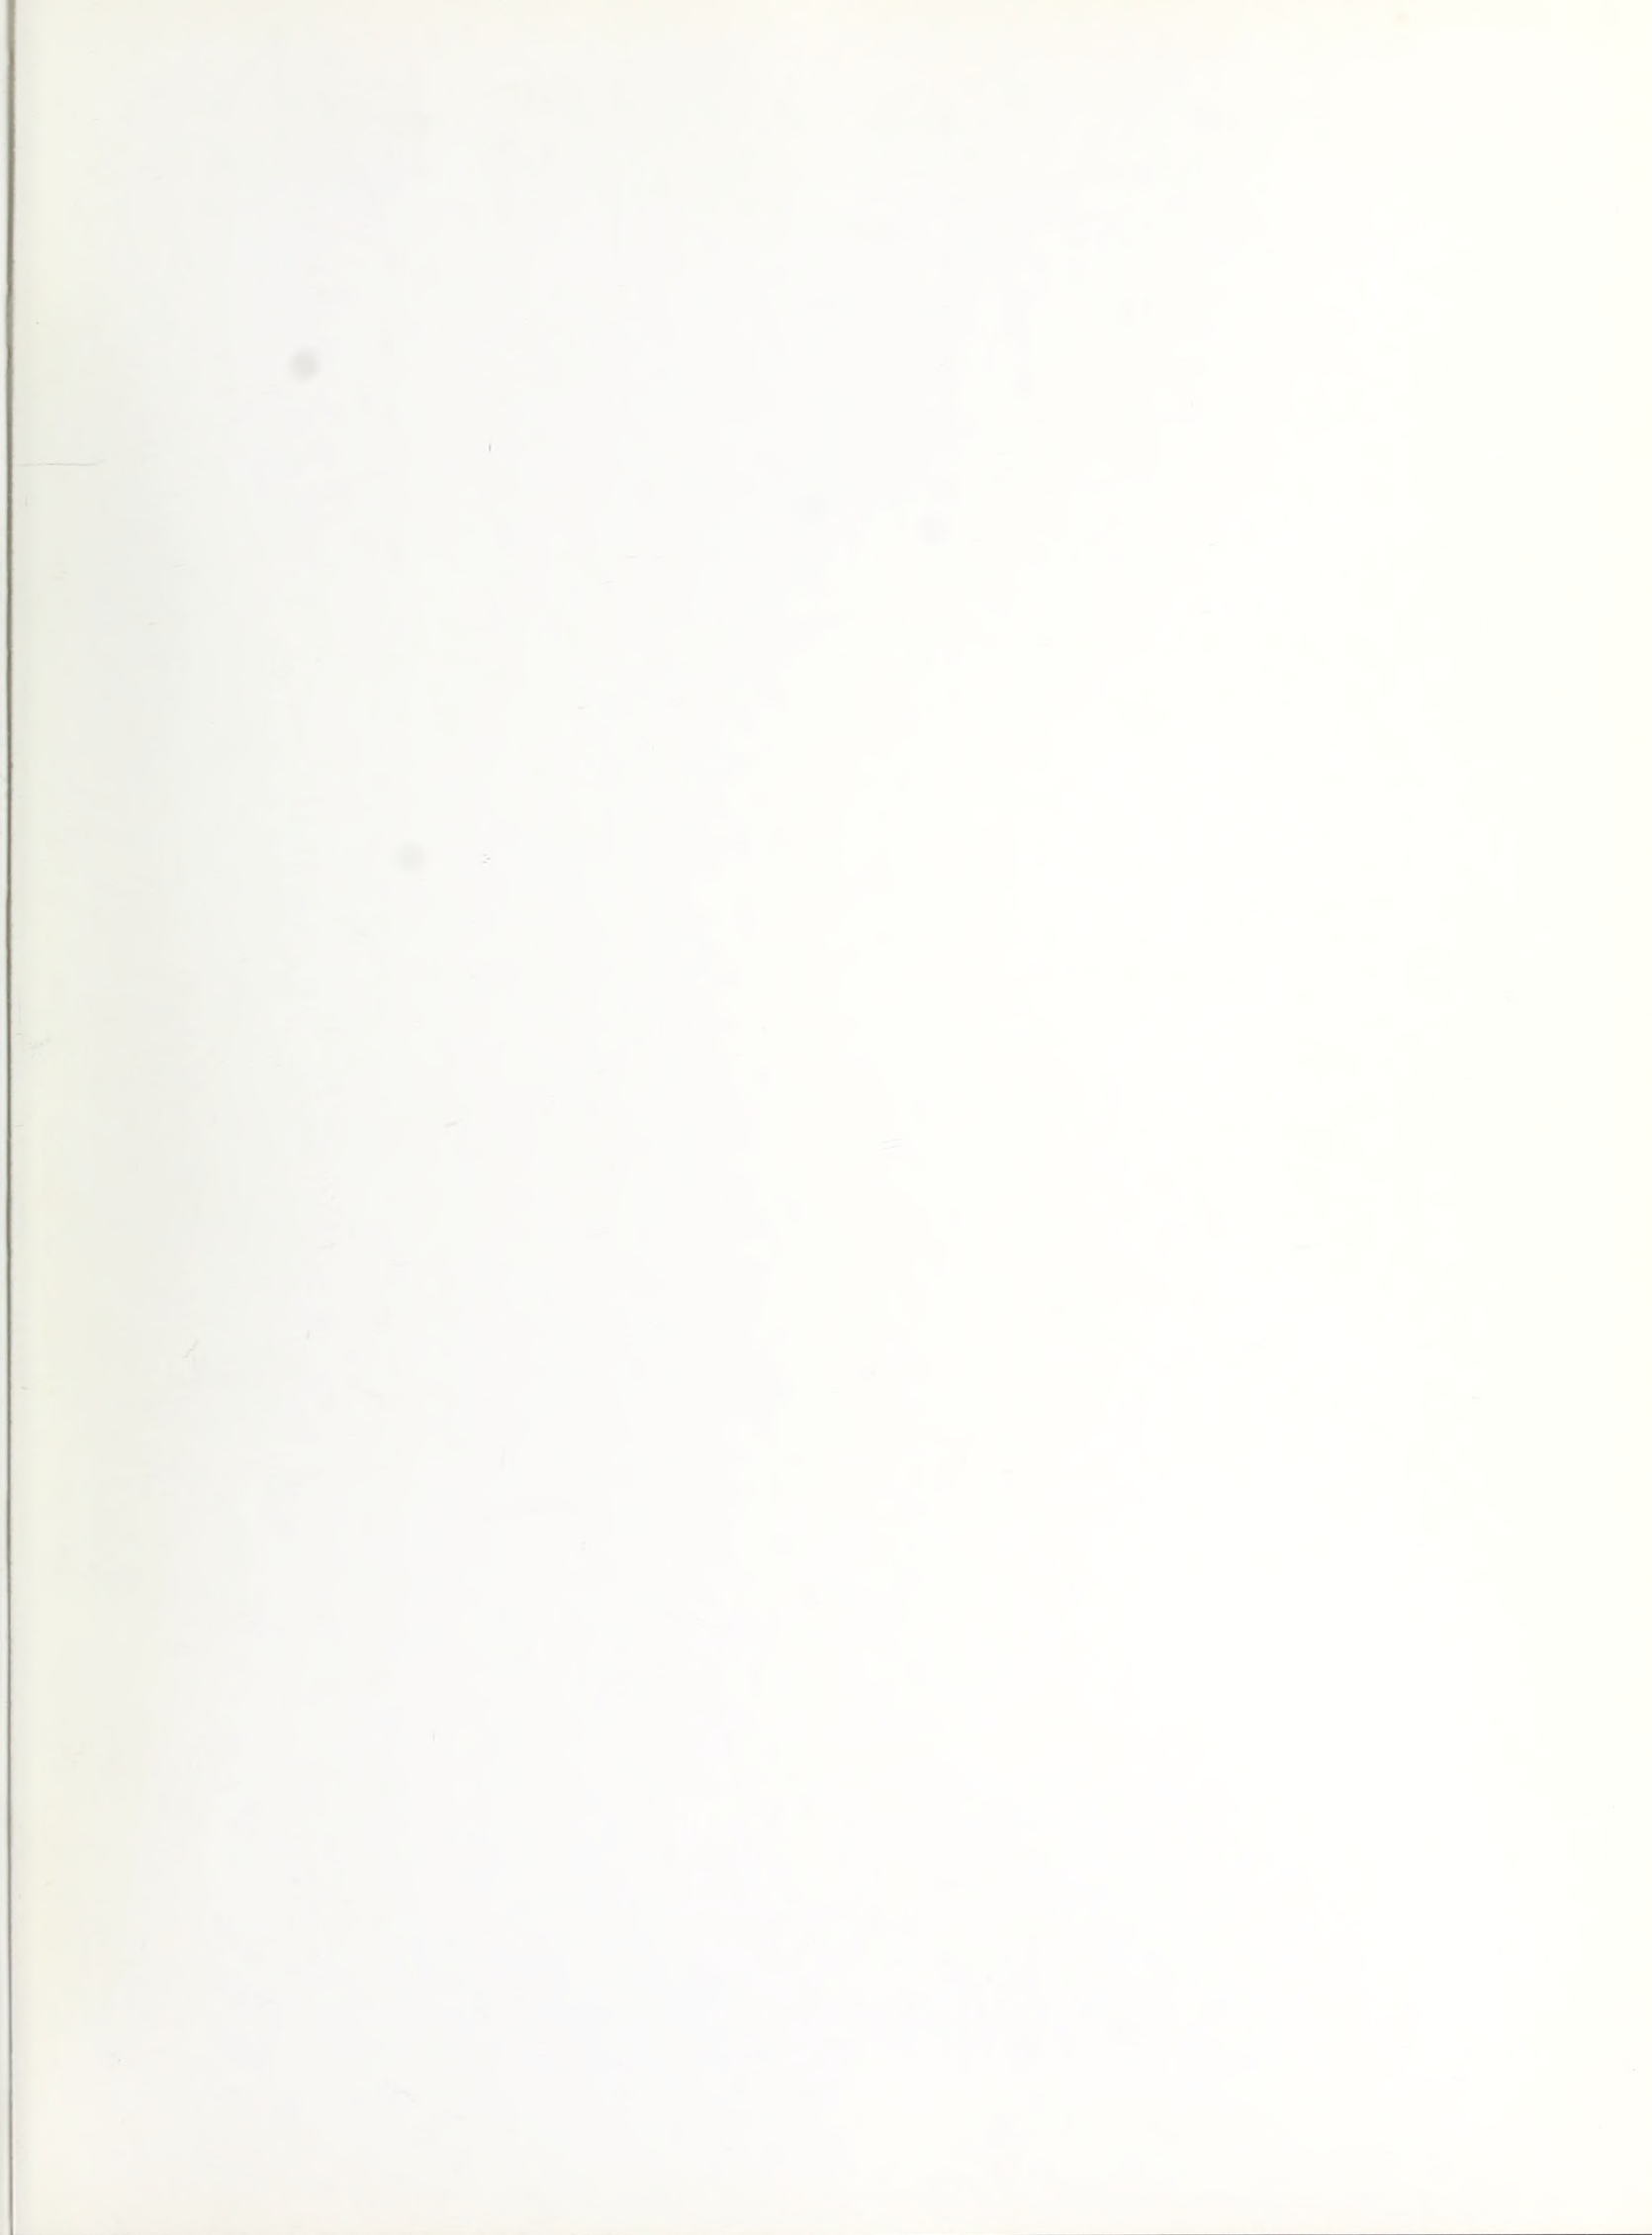

As a year takes shape, the important events, both in school and around the world, color our impressions and memories. Every person helps create history; only a few record it. Through records one can gain and keep a perspective on the events that have taken place. The '73 Blue and Gray is such a record, for it provides memories of a school, but also, it helps us keep in mind the importance of the world in which we live.

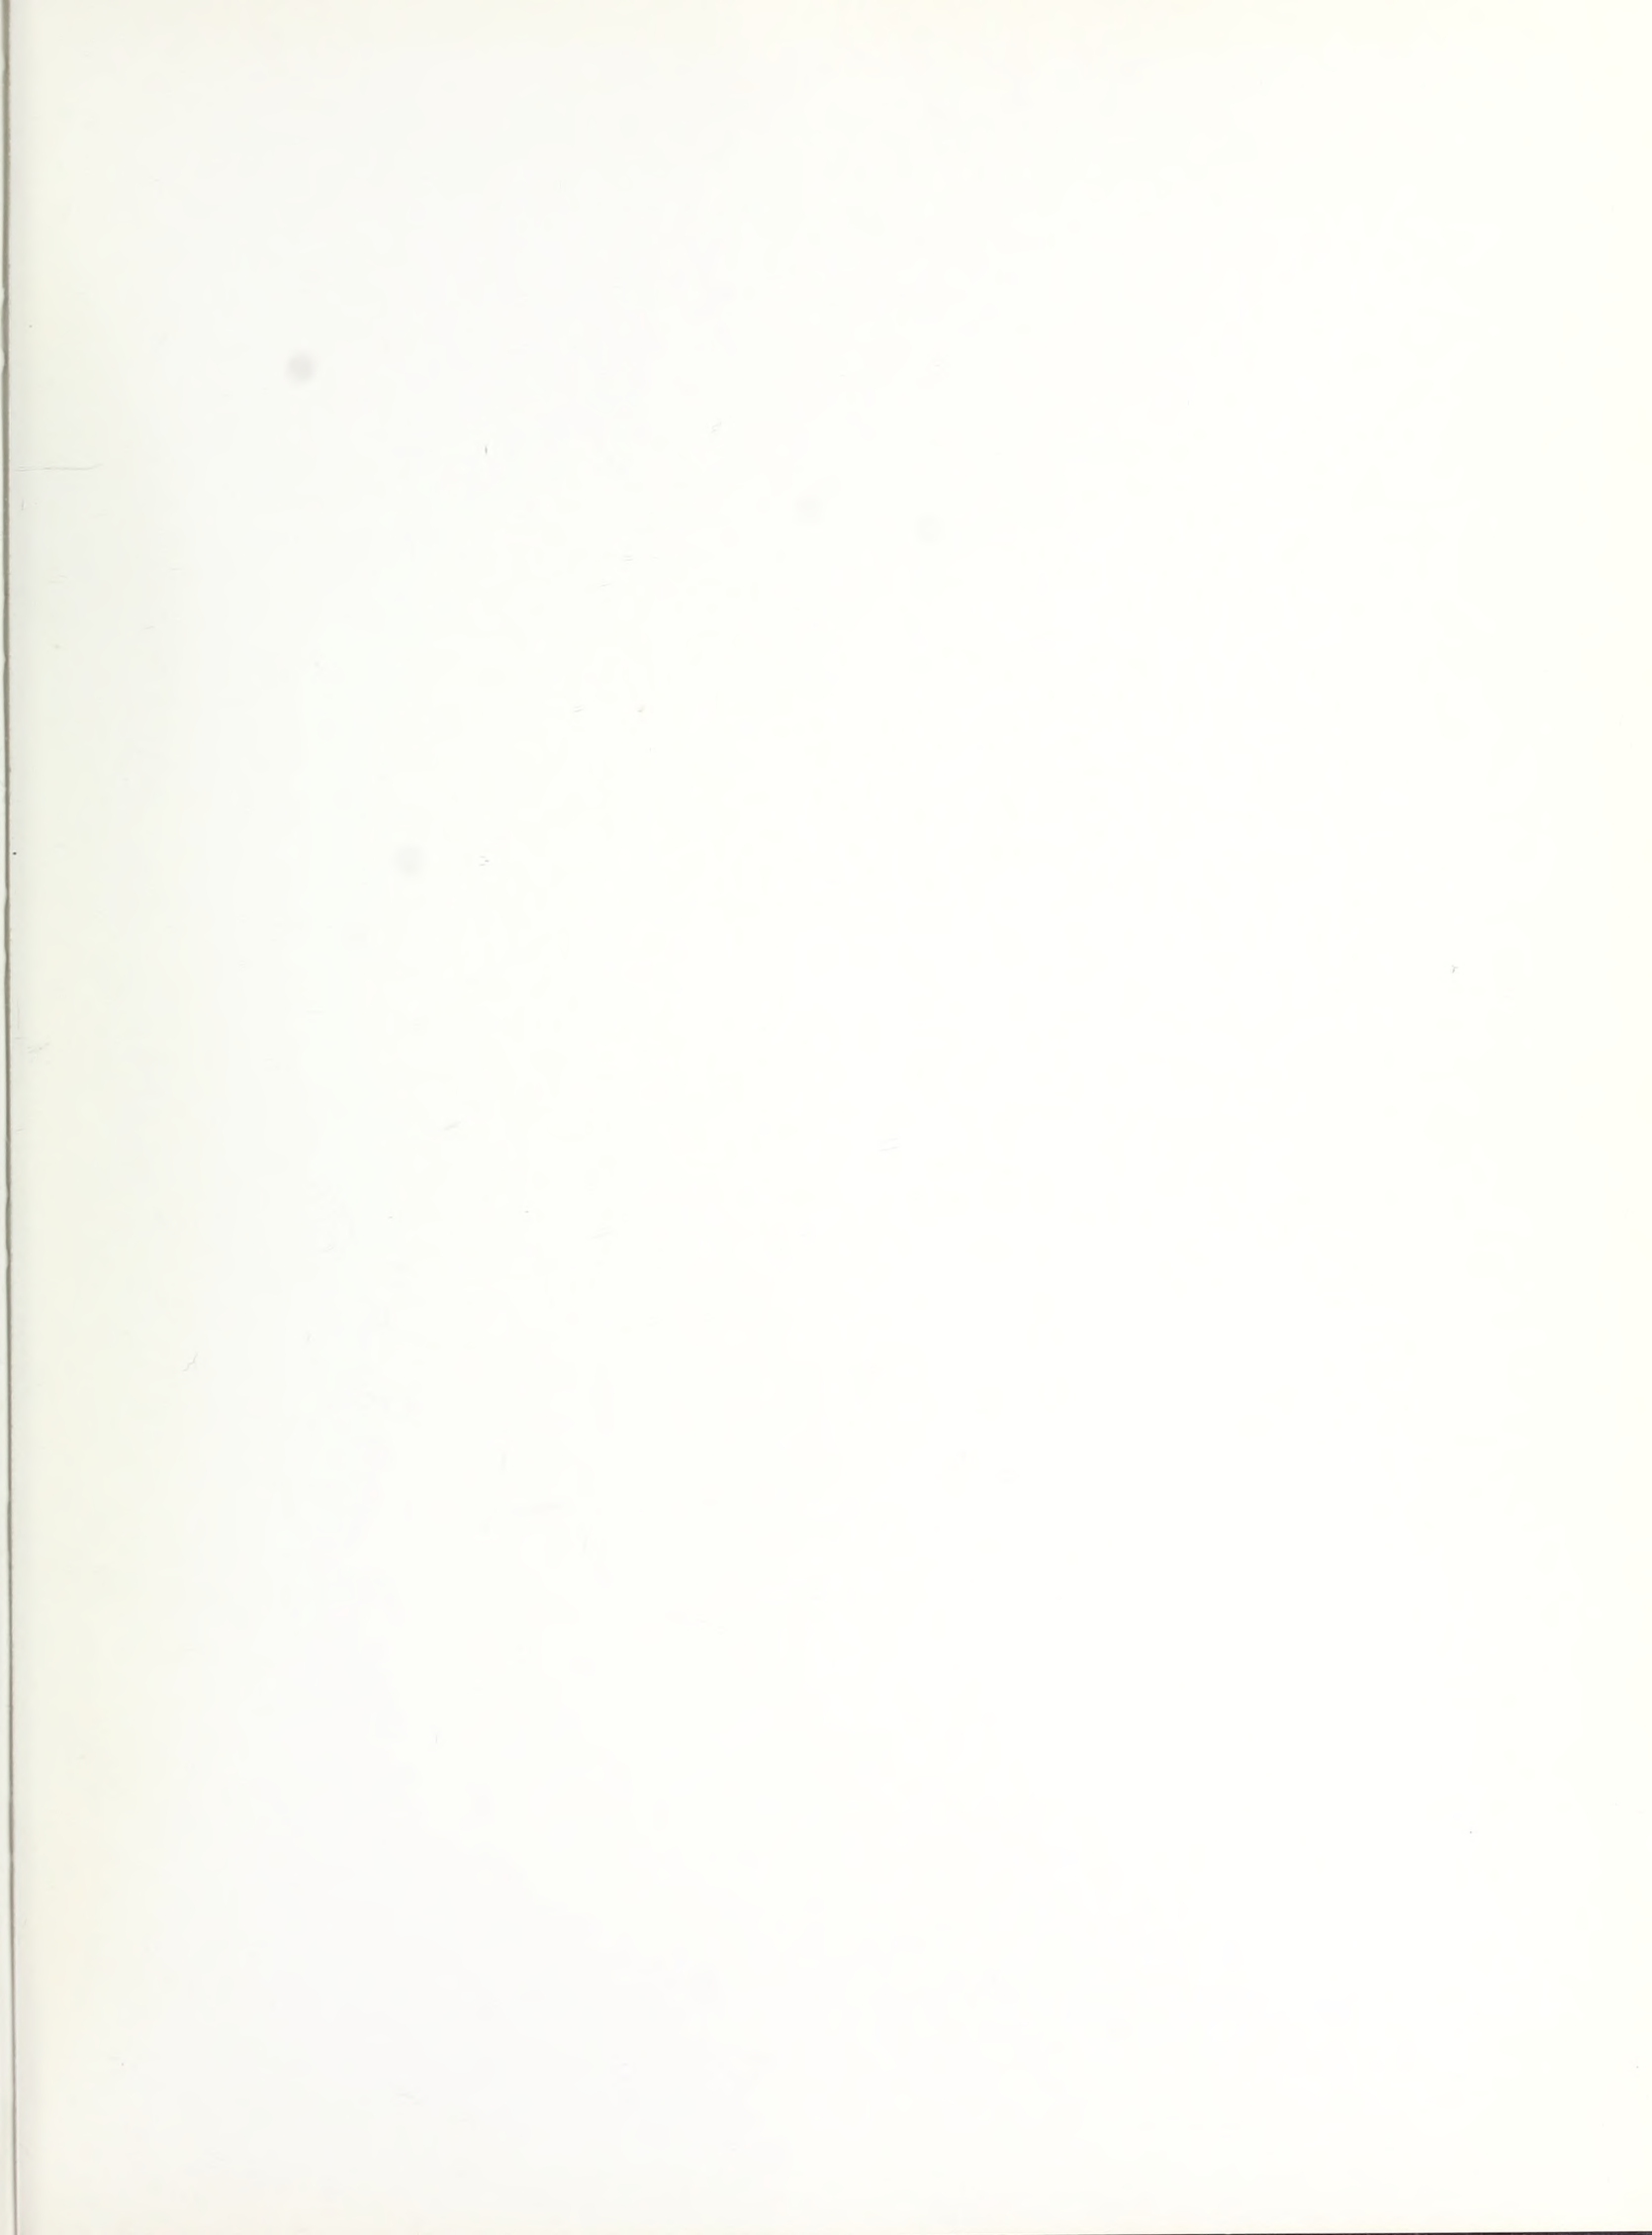

WASHINGTON LEE HIGH SCHOOL

"And hast thou slain the Jabberwock?
Come to my arms, my beamish boy!
O frabjous day! Callooh! Callay!"
He chortled in his joy.
